Grade 12

Ty!

Philadelphia Eagles ROCKS! We will see them winning the next Super Bowl for sure!

~Ashbar

Hey Tyler,

I wish you congratulations can graduation! So, you must
- I mine! Same mine!
go to college when childhood
I always remember you and that I will for many years forever anyway!
never forget your name
See you next year!
(of course we shall hang out for often)

Xoxo

“According to all known laws of aviation, there is no way a bee should be able to fly.
It’s wings are too small to get its fat little body off the ground.
The bee, of course,
flies anyway,
because bees don’t care what humans think is impossible.
- Bee Movie”

Impossibility is never a barrier to our dreams.
For believers like us,
dreams do come true.
To believe is to look
past the impossible.

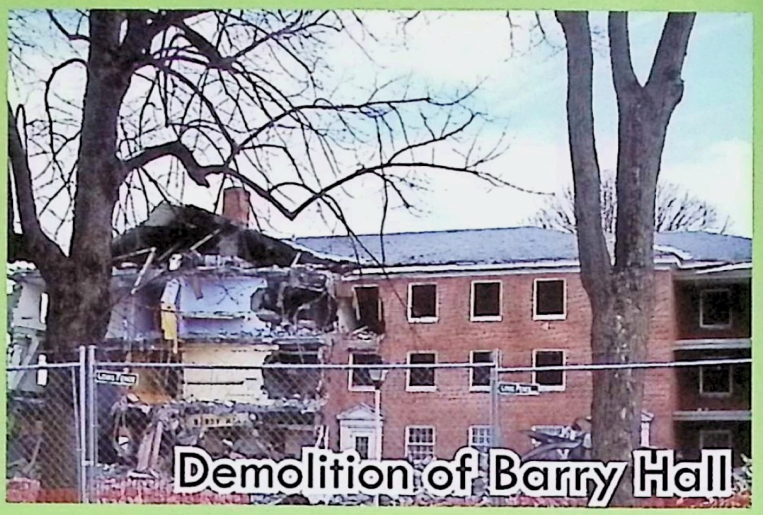
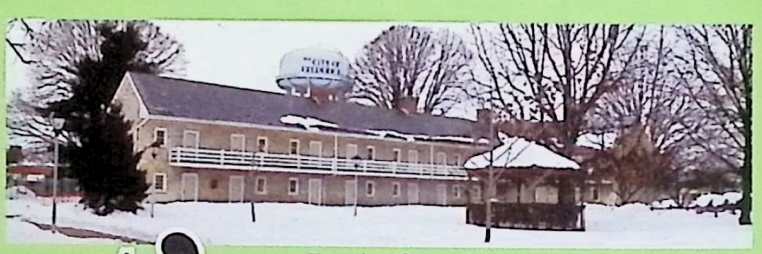
What's new?

Barry Hall was demolished in order to build a new cafeteria. The new cafeteria is scheduled to open in 2011



Demolition of Barry Hall



For the first time in years, Maryland School for the Deaf was closed for 6 days because of back-to-back blizzards which gave us more than three feet of snow.

An Additonal Parking Lot

The new parking lot was paved recently so our cars can have more room to breathe. The space that was called "The Black Top" was used as a playground for recess was paved to provide much needed parking spaces.

Blizzard of 2010

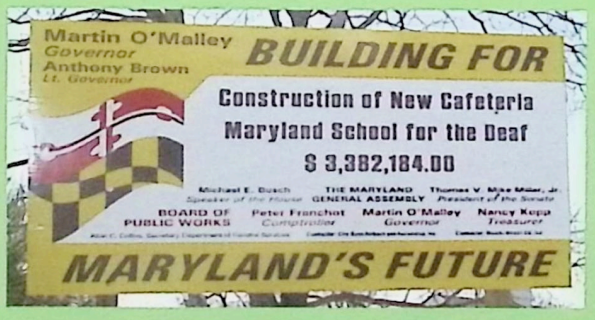
Town Hall Meetings

The entire school meets in an assembly on one Thursday per month to recognize and celebrate our successes and to support our school.

Student Leader Program

Peer Mediators are old news now. Student Leaders are now around to help out with the school.

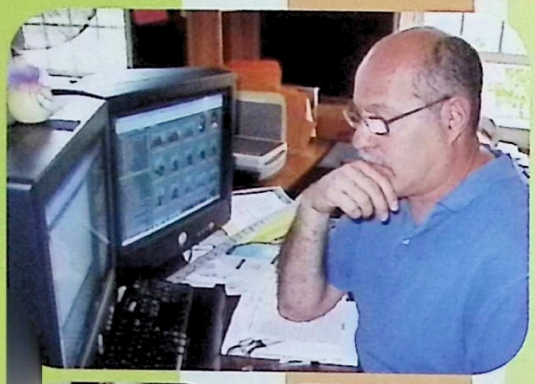
Bjorlee Library was magically transformed into a museum that preserves and displays historical artifacts from Maryland School for the Deaf



These lucky elementary children are now able to learn in a brand-new, friendly, and vibrant setting. The new Elementary Building ribbon cutting ceremony took place on October 15, 2009 with help of Governor O'Malley.

Ms. Lisa Houck proudly stepped into her office as the new principal of Maryland School for the Deaf.

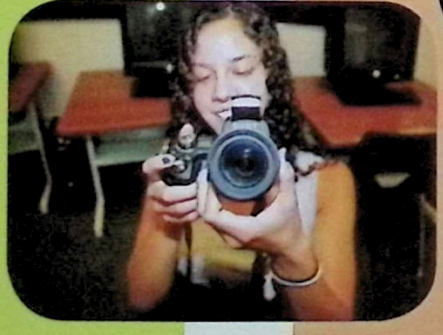
say hello to the sizzling



"As always, I have enjoyed working closely with these students. We've worked on every single detail on every single one of the 144 pages. They sure have learned so much regarding desktop publications!"
-Robert Lewis

"I want you to have the best of time reading this yearbook because of how much work was put into this masterpiece."
-Mark

"Pry your eyes open for the wildest ride. Read this yearbook. Look closely at the pictures. Remember. Laugh. And cherish."
-Michelle



"Yearbooks represent the memories created throughout the year. You will have fun reading this one."
-Roy

"Despite the eccentric and fun pressure we've been under, this yearbook is, hands down, the one to remember."
-Shayna

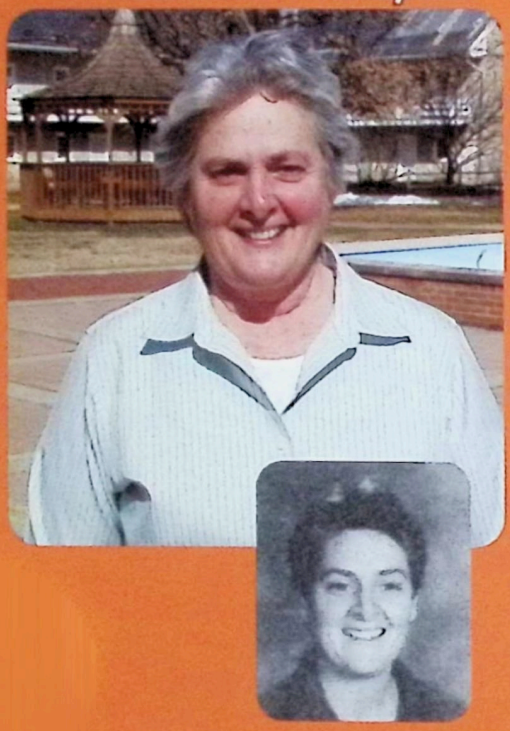
Dedication

Adora Lehmann

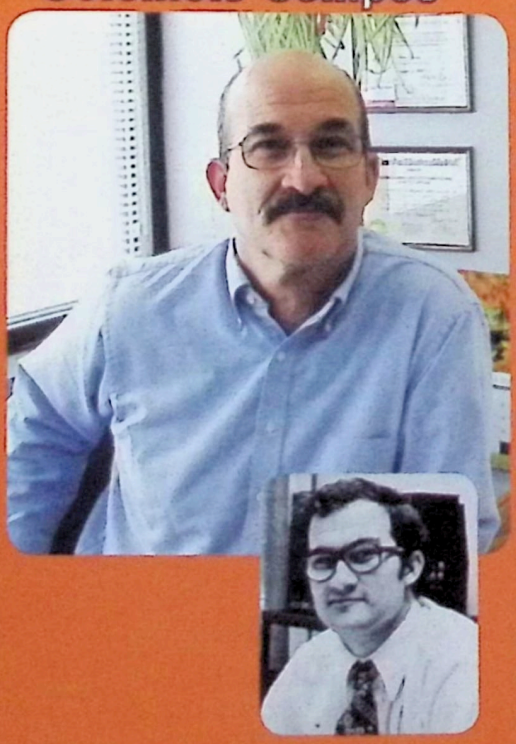
Frederick Campus



Adora Lehmann was born and raised in Poughkeepsie, New York. She went on to attend Gallaudet University where she received a Bachelor of Arts Degree. She continued her education at New York University where she earned her Master of Arts degree in Counseling. She became a certified Cognitive-Behavioral Therapist. Ms. Lehmann's career has taken her to many interesting places and given her valuable experiences. She has worked at Marie Katzenbach School for the Deaf in New Jersey, Boys Town National Institute in Nebraska, The Catholic Association for the Deaf and Springfield Psychiatric Hospital in Maryland. Luckily, Adora Lehmann decided to start working at Maryland School for the Deaf in August of 1994 and she has been a Mental Health Counselor at the Frederick Campus since that time. In addition to her role as a Counselor, Adora has had an additional role as the mother of two MSD students. Her children, Shana and Scott, are MSD Alumni and were active scholars and athletes while at MSD. Adora and her husband, Ray, have volunteered their time to support many teams at MSD. Mrs. Lehmann has helped so many students at Maryland School for the Deaf in the 16 years of her service. She is a kind, supportive, and effective therapist and many students have grown with her support and direction. You can always count on Adora to be calm in any situation and to be compassionate and confidential. She really has a special place in her heart for MSD students and it shows.

Brian Alles

Columbia Campus



Mr. Brian Alles has worked for the Maryland School for the Deaf for 35 years. He started with MSD back in September of 1975. Prior to that, he graduated from Western Maryland College in 1973 with a Psychology degree. In 1975, he completed his Master's degree in Deaf Education and also received his certification in Psychology, both from Ohio State. Mr. Alles has done anything and everything the school has asked of him. Besides being the first and only psychologist for Columbia, he is the school's director of admissions, the department head for Columbia's support service team, a member of the school's crisis management team, director of transportation, a counselor/therapist, and a participant on about every committee the school has ever had. Mr. Alles is the "face" of MSD Columbia. He is usually the first MSD employee an anxious parent meets. Within minutes parents feel at ease as he carefully leads them and their child through the beginning stages of admission into the school. More importantly, he always gives them a sense of respect, understanding and hope. Long after a child's acceptance, parents still look to Mr. Alles as a source of reassurance and support. Mr. Alles' first evaluation concluded with the following: "Mr. Alles is always trying to promote healthy human relationships and harmony." This is as true today as it was over 30 years ago. Anyone and everyone who has ever met Mr. Alles, has felt this. He, more than any other employee, has created the Columbia culture of acceptance of all children regardless of their disabilities. He has instilled in all of us the belief that we can always make a difference. Simply put, Columbia would not be the outstanding school it is today if it were not for Mr. Alles.

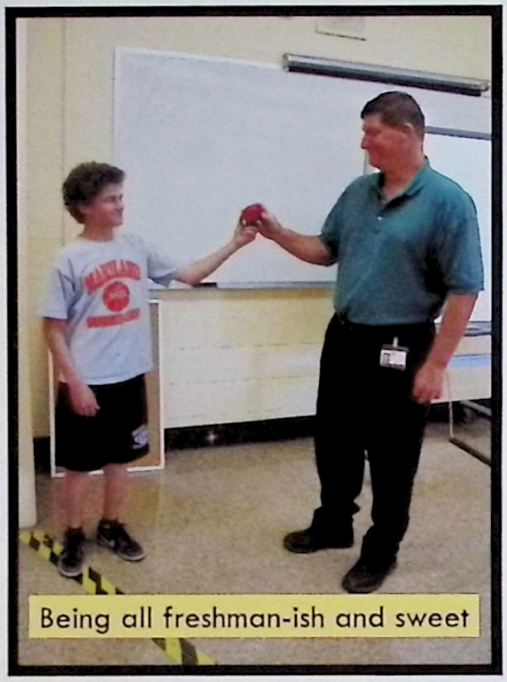
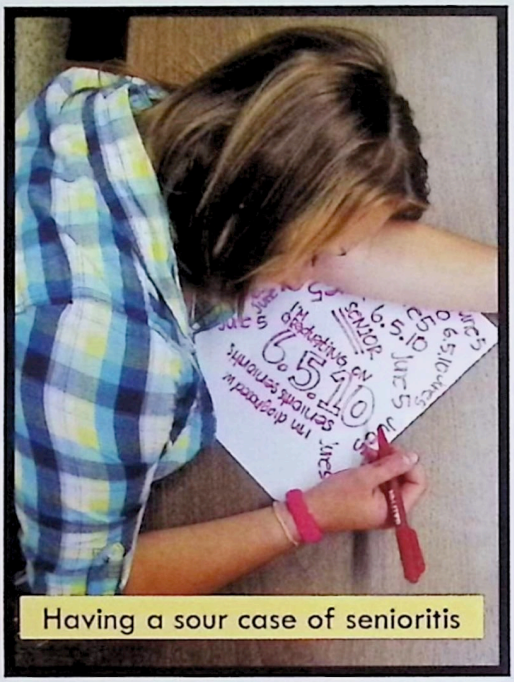
What's HOT and What's NOT?



Being all freshman-ish and sweet



Having a sour case of senioritis

HOT	NOT
Driving a vehicle to school and sipping a Starbucks	Riding in a school bus and bouncing on your seat from such a bumpy ride
Completing home work on time and making teachers smile	Giving teachers something to frown about by saying "My dog ate my homework"
Sharing your pack of gum pack with the entire school	Sharing your love for this school by sticking gum under desks
Passing your World War I test with flying colors	Taking glimpses or texting on your cellphones while your teacher is explaining about World War I
Waiting until between classes to mingle with your friends	Lurking in the hallway during class time like you are on the prowl
Showing up to school in enough clothes to maintain your body heat throughout a blizzard	Ignoring our beloved handbook and wearing some whacked shorty shorts or revealing V-neck tops

Model (1-7) at MSD (7-1): The Orioles did not play last week because a pair of opponents were overcome by the flu bug. They were originally scheduled to play St. James last Thursday, but St. James couldn't fulfill the commitment because the school has been closed due to a flu outbreak. MSD scrambled to schedule a game against Virginia Lions for Friday night until the Lions were stricken by the flu and couldn't play. The Orioles are hopeful that Model will be able to make the trip from northeast D.C. The Eagles have struggled lately, losing their last four games.

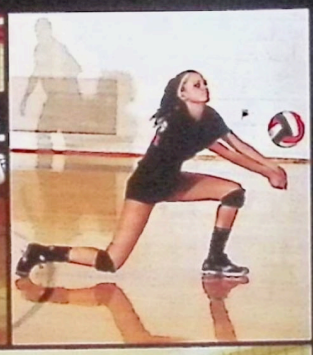
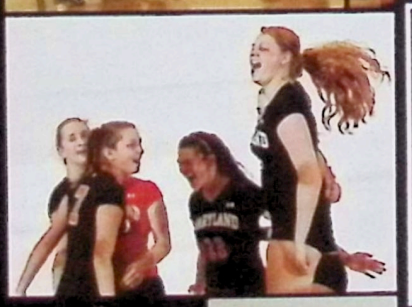
THOSE POWDERPUFF GAMES

GAME TIME

The kickoff of our homecoming game against Model Secondary School for the Deaf took place on Halloween night, October 31st, at 7:30 p.m. The Orioles had full control of those Eagles the entire game. We sure showed them who the better birds are with a final score of 47-0.





Our Volleyball homecoming game fell on Thursday, October 29th. With a twist, this game was also Senior Night. Guess who the girls played against and dominated? Our rival, Model Secondary School for the Deaf. We floated through the game by winning 3-0.

Rarely is there a season as special as this one. This was a season of great accomplishments and wonderful memories. We worked hard and played together as a team, and no one deserves the deaf national championship more than us. I am honored and proud to coach an amazing team. And most definitely, we will all miss our seniors.

Tucker helps MSD beat Queen Ann

By Chris Eckard
Special to the News-Post

For the first quarter of its game against Heritage Academy, the Maryland School for the Deaf girls basketball team struggled to find a source of offense.

They eventually found it in Claire Tucker, a go-to player.

"She is a powerful player with the ability to slash and break down the defense," MSD coach Amy Mowl said. "Because of her, we were able to put their players in foul trouble."

The junior weaved through the defense and used the baseline to her advantage. It fueled a 22-3 run and, in the end, won the Oriole Classic championship game, 46-36, on Saturday.

In the game after, the MSD boy's basketball team won their championship game against Queen Anne, 63-20. The Orioles (8-3) were in control throughout and led by Shay

Dear Members of the Graduating Class of 2010,

You all have reached a time-honored milestone in our American culture: high school graduation! You are ready to take the next step as you move on to colleges and universities, to training programs, or to the world of work.

President Barack Obama continues to lead our country and the "free world" in our war against terrorism. Our troops are still in harm's way in Iraq and Afghanistan and many parts of the world fighting an enemy that is elusive and without country borders.

Current top priority domestic issues are the implementation of the Health Care and Education Reconciliation Act of 2010, and the revisiting of the No Child Left Behind (NCLB) Act of 2001. Unemployment and creation of jobs continue to dominate our national discussion while the national budget deficit continues to grow.

Our world is forever evolving… What you have learned yesterday and today may not be useful for tomorrow. Each of one of us should always be prepared to learn new ideas, concepts, and skills. We all must be life-long learners!

Each one of us also needs to be informed and if possible involved with local, national, and global issues. Each one of us must be a registered voter, and vote in every local and national election.

Do carry with you throughout your lifetimes the knowledge, skills, and friends you gained at MSD. Members of the MSD Community are proud to have served each of you, and we wish you the best of luck. You are always welcome to visit us and share with us your world journeys.

Best wishes,

James E. Tucker

Slippery Slope

Nearly 16 million Americans lost their jobs in the wake of the recession. The increased wave of lay-offs put the national unemployment rate at 10.2%, the highest in over 26 years. Although the economy began to rebound from the worst recession in 70 years, employers continued to be wary.

Clunkers Make Some Noise

For nearly a month in the summer of 2009 America was consumed by CARS (Car Allowance Rebate System), commonly known as Cash for Clunkers. The government program was designed to encourage drivers to trade-in old gas-guzzlers in favor of new, fuel-efficient vehicles. With an incentive of up to $4,500, the program was wildly successful and nearly 700,000 cars were traded in.

A Music Icon Remembered

Legendary performer Michael Jackson passed away suddenly at the age of 50. As news spread of his death, the internet suffered a significant slowdown as people worldwide conducted simultaneous searches. Jackson was also nominated for five American Music Awards in 2009, including Artist of the Year, after his music saw a tremendous surge in sales and airplay. As a final tribute, Sony Pictures released This Is It. The never-before-seen footage of Jackson rehearsing for his final 50 shows was a massive success, making millions.

Nuclear Test

North Korea conducted a series of rocket and missile tests, including an underground nuclear bomb test in an attempt to lure the U.S. into talks to loosen sanctions. The international community was outraged, stating that the test was in clear violation of international law. In 2008, North Korea agreed to suspend its nuclear testing in exchange for economic stimulus, but the deal fell through after it removed inspectors from the country.

All a Buzz

Kavya Shivashankar, a 13 year old from Kansas, won the Scripps National Spelling Bee. A four-time competitor and aspiring neurosurgeon, Kavya won the trophy and more than $40,000 in cash and prizes with her correct spelling of "Laodicean" — meaning lukewarm or indifferent in religion or politics.

Balloon Hoax

Millions watched as a large metallic balloon, said to be carrying a 6 year old boy, soared through the air in Colorado. When it landed and "balloon boy" Falcon Heene was not inside, the world was relieved to learn he had been hiding in the attic the entire time. Three days later, after a telling interview, the whole spectacle was deemed a hoax in the parents' pursuit of fame and fortune. The parents pled guilty to criminal charges and received jail time.

The Statue of Liberty can have up to 15,000 visitors per day.

Liberty Reopens

On July 4th one of the nation's most recognizable symbols of freedom, the Statue of Liberty, reopened its crown to visitors. After the September 11th attacks, the monument was closed to all visitors until 2004 when the base and lower observation decks were reopened. Guests will be allowed to make the 168-stair climb to the top for the next two years, when the crown will close again for safety work.

Catastrophic Quakes

The island nation of Haiti was struck by a devastating 7.0 magnitude earthquake so strong it could be felt nearly 200 miles away. The flattened capital city left millions seeking shelter and medical attention and Haitian government officials estimated over 111,000 people lost their lives. Humanitarian organizations such as the Red Cross set up aid and relief efforts while streamlining donations by allowing individuals to text message pledges. Within days, over $355 million in donations had been raised through the combined efforts of companies, charities and individuals.

Oprah Moves On

Popular syndicated talk show host and business tycoon, Oprah Winfrey, announced she would end The Oprah Winfrey Show in late summer 2011. The news came as a shock to fans that have elevated her status to nothing short of an icon since the show's inception in 1986. Early speculation indicated she may start a new show on her own Oprah Winfrey Network in 2011. Her show currently draws about 7 million viewers a day.

Fort Hood Tragedy

On November 5, 2009, Fort Hood, America's largest military base, transformed from a place where soldiers prepare for war to an actual battlefield. Major Nidal Malik Hasan, a licensed military psychiatrist, opened fire in the processing center where soldiers report before deployment. Twelve soldiers and one civilian lost their lives, while 30 others were injured, including Hasan. In the past, Hasan had been openly critical about the war on terror.

Iranian Election Protests

Iran's presidential election drew international attention when disputes over the winner sparked two weeks of protests. Reformist activists claimed Mahmoud Ahmadinejad's landslide win was a fraudulent mishandling of the ballots. The protests resulted in 20 fatalities, numerous arrests and trials for nearly 100 demonstrators facing charges such as attacking government property, violence toward security forces and creating panic in public.

H1N1 Flu Outbreak

In the spring of 2009, H1N1 emerged with the first reported cases in Mexico. The virus reached the United States in April and officials worried the flu would spread rapidly, causing a global pandemic and fear that the unpredictable flu virus could mutate into a more dangerous strain. In the fall, President Obama declared a national emergency, enabling the government to provide more aid to the states. In the U.S. alone, millions of people were infected and thousands lost their lives. When a vaccine became available in the fall, thousands flooded phone lines and clinics around the country, as the demand greatly outnumbered the first supply.

Sonia Supreme

With a vote of 68-31, Sonia Sotomayor became the first Hispanic person to become a Supreme Court Justice and just the third woman of all time. Sotomayor was appointed to the Supreme Court with 17 years of federal experience, having tried over 3,600 cases.

Toyota Troubles

Automobile giant, Toyota, recalled eight of its models after learning of a problem with its acceleration mechanisms that caused some gas pedals to stick and vehicles to accelerate without warning. Though the company said the problem is "rare and infrequent" it decided to recall about 4.2 million vehicles worldwide and brought U.S. sales and production to a halt. The company tried to remedy the situation and ease the nerves of uncertain drivers by sending new parts to dealers to fix the faulty pedals.

Health Care Hurdles

In groundbreaking sessions of Congress, both the House and Senate passed bills for health care reform after months of debate. The next step was to merge the nearly $1 trillion proposed plans for a final vote. If passed, the bill would become the largest federal health care expansion in forty years since the introduction of Medicare and Medicaid. The goal of the bill is to bring extended insurance coverage to an additional 30 million Americans.

Ares Blasts Off

Forty years after putting the first men on the moon, NASA is once again elevating its space program with the new Ares 1-X Rocket. The streamline rocket's simpler design is cheaper and up to 10 times safer than its shuttle predecessors. Despite a successful first test in late October, officials say that the 1-X may not carry astronauts until 2017.

Surprise Prize

A surprise to many, the Norwegian Nobel Committee honored President Barack Obama with the 2009 Nobel Peace Prize, just eight months into his tenure. The committee explained it was Obama's "extraordinary efforts to strengthen international diplomacy and cooperation between peoples" that brought his name to the top of the nominees list. Upon learning the news, the president remarked that he was humbled by the decision.

My Headlines

What were your favorite headlines of the year?

Shifting Frontlines

President Obama announced the deployment of 30,000 additional American troops to Afghanistan starting in early 2010, bringing the total U.S. presence to about 100,000 troops. The intended strategy was to combat the growing momentum of the Taliban in the region and to provide training for Afghan security forces. Plans to begin withdrawing troops were set for 2011.

Dubai in the Sky

Marking a stunning architectural achievement, the Burj Khalifa in Dubai opened, becoming the tallest skyscraper in the world. The towering needle-shaped structure stretches nearly 2,700 feet into the air. The building has 160 stories which include apartments, office space and a hotel designed by Giorgio Armani. The eye-catching main attraction of a new shopping district, the Burj Khalifa reportedly cost $1.5 billion to build.

Found 18 Years Later

The discovery of Jaycee Dugard 18 years after her disappearance renewed hope for families of missing children. When Dugard was 11 years old she was abducted by Philip Garrido while walking to her school bus. Jaycee was held captive in Garrido's backyard. Both Garrido and his wife face multiple charges, including kidnapping and false imprisonment. Jaycee has since reunited with her family.

Science & Discoveries

Aerodynamic Seeds

"Helicopter seeds," the seeds from maple trees, have provided hours of fun for children but researchers were stumped as to what made the seeds hover. A team of Dutch and American scientists discovered the answer. When a maple seed swirls, a tornado-like vortex lowers the air pressure around the seed, sucking the wings upward to oppose gravity—insects, bats, and hummingbirds employ the same technique.

In Hot Water

Ocean temperatures around the world measured 1 degree higher than normal between June and August, averaging 62.5°F, according to the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration. August saw the warmest temps on record since 1880, when record keeping began. Though climate change is listed as a factor, meteorologists say the warming is also due in part to a natural El Niño system. Ocean heat puts coral reefs in harm's way and also contributes to melting Arctic sea ice and hurricane strength.

A Farmer's Friend

Even plants have joined in the text-messaging craze. Through SmartCrop™ infrared thermometers planted in soil, plants can "tell" farmers when they are hot or thirsty. Most crops have an ideal temperature for growth and these thermometers allow farmers to be notified by text message if a plant has risen above the ideal temp.

Growth Spurt

The Bristlecone pine is the world's longest-lived tree, sustaining ages up to 4,800 years. Recently, researchers found that these ancient trees are growing at a much faster rate than ever before as evident by its widening rings. The growth is presumably due to the increase in temperature in their high-altitude climate over the past 50 years.

Solar Energy Makeover

Developers have found two ways to make solar power panels more appealing to the average homeowner. First, underground panels use fiber optic cables to capture and distribute sun energy, instead of heavy panels. The second option is to incorporate shingle-like solar panels that have a thin copper film covering to absorb light energy into the roof. The Powerhouse™ Solar Shingle is expected to be less expensive and easier to install than full-size panels.

Poo Power Payoff

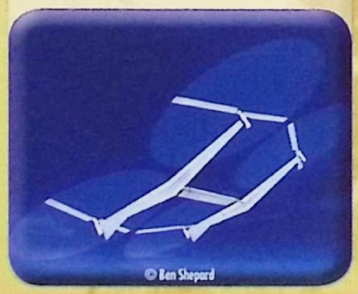
In response to rising energy costs year-after-year, Shawn Saylor turned to an unlikely renewable source to power his family's dairy farm. Using the manure from 600 cows, Saylor used a process known as anaerobic digestion to generate energy. Saylor explained that this method produces a savings of about $200,000 per year with the ability to sell left over energy back to the power company.

Tiny T-Rex

History's fearsome Tyrannosaurus Rex may have had miniature ancestors. A newly discovered ancient creature known as "Raptorex" closely resembles its massive relative, at only a fraction of the size. Experts report it may have weighed only 150 pounds compared to T-Rex's 13,000 pounds. Raptorex would have existed 60 million years before T-Rex, and despite its size, would have touted an extremely powerful bite.

Let's Go Fly a Kite

Scientists from the University of California and the Carnegie Institution have discovered a way to create sustainable energy—through kites. High-altitude winds contain a vast amount of energy. By releasing kite-like wind turbines miles above the planet and tethering them to the ground, researchers believe they could create enough energy to supply electricity worldwide.



Cooling Sun

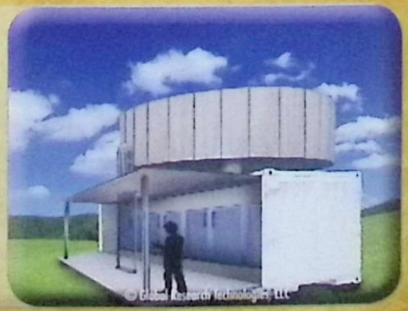
Scientists have discovered that the sun is at its dimmest in over 100 years. Typically, the sun undergoes 11-year cycles, culminating in the expulsion of solar flares and planet-sized debris. After 2008 the sun was expected to become increasingly hotter, but instead it was at a 50-year low for solar pressure and a 100-year low for sunspot activity. Although dimming of the sun has resulted in decreased temperatures in the past, the onset of global warming has likely counteracted this phenomenon.

Colossal Sea Monster

The fossilized skull of an ancient sea monster called a pliosaur was discovered along the Jurassic Coast of England. The skull—dating back 150 million years—measured nearly eight feet. Scientists believe the creature's full size was up to 52 feet long, making it the biggest pliosaur ever found. The dangerous sea predator could have eaten a T-Rex for breakfast!

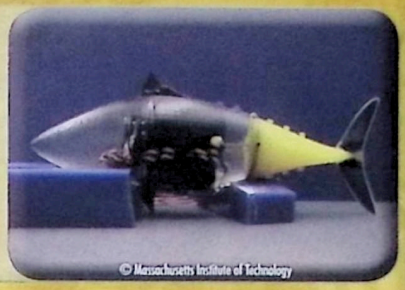
Carbon Capture

Professor Klaus Lackner of Columbia University has created a "synthetic tree" able to capture destructive carbon dioxide 1,000 times better than real trees. When the wind blows through the "leaves", carbon is trapped and converted to a liquid form. One unit could remove up to a ton of carbon dioxide from the atmosphere a day—the equivalent of 20 cars.



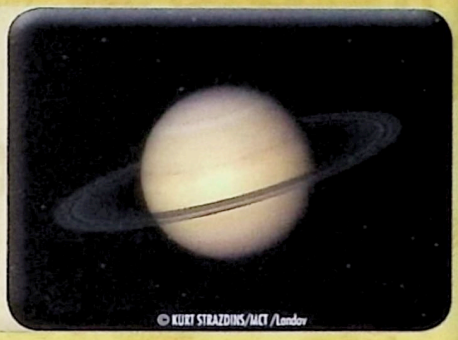
Robots Can Swim!

Mechanical engineers Kamal Youcef-Toumi and Pablo Valdivia Y Alvarado of MIT designed robotic fish that can swim and maneuver just like real fish. They hope to one day use the robots to help patrol bodies of water such as lakes and rivers, looking for pollutants and inspecting underwater structures.



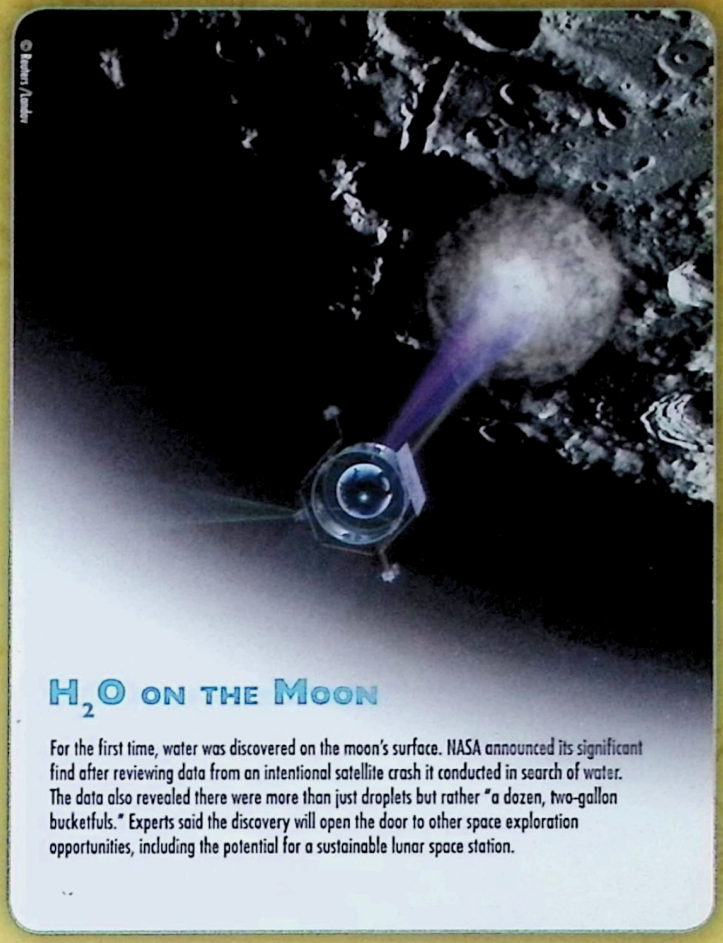
Now that's a Ring

NASA's Spitzer Space Telescope discovered the largest ring around the planet Saturn. The never-before-seen ring is so colossal that NASA's Jet Propulsion Laboratory estimates that it would take 1 billion earth-sized planets to fill it. Composed of dust and ice particles, the ring's temperature is approximately -316°F.



Super Natural Glue

The asparagus beetle attaches its eggs using what is said to be some of the strongest natural glue in the world. A study discovered the almost invisible eggs require a pull-off force of "8,650 times higher than the egg weight." It's not unusual for an insect to produce egg glue and this research could lead to the discovery of other natural bonding agents.



H_2O on the Moon

For the first time, water was discovered on the moon's surface. NASA announced its significant find after reviewing data from an intentional satellite crash it conducted in search of water. The data also revealed there were more than just droplets but rather "a dozen, two-gallon bucketfuls." Experts said the discovery will open the door to other space exploration opportunities, including the potential for a sustainable lunar space station.

Glow-in-the-dark Puppies?

Scientists in South Korea cloned a genetically engineered litter of pups, enabling them to glow red under ultraviolet light. The intention of the experiment was to prove that if fluorescent protein can be created though the modification of genetic code, there may be a way to fix genetic flaws in humans by similar innovations in genetic coding.

My Discoveries

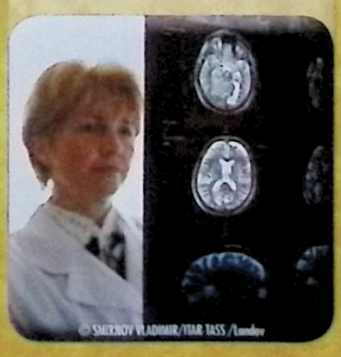
What were your favorite discoveries of the year?

Mighty Mice

In a scientific breakthrough, two labs in China bred the first induced pluripotent stem cell (iPS) mice, meaning they were the first of their kind developed from adult stem cells, instead of the more controversial embryonic cells. Scientists reprogrammed the cells back to an embryonic state where they could again develop into actual mice. This discovery is strong evidence that iPS cells have the potential to be used for treating disease.

Autism Brain Discovery

To learn more about the causes of autism, researchers conducted a study of MRI brain scans of 50 toddlers. Preliminary findings showed that on average, an area in the brain called the amygdala is 13% larger in young children with autism. It is believed that these children are born with normal-sized brains but later in the first year the area begins to grow larger. Autism is a developmental condition affecting as many as 1 in 150 children.

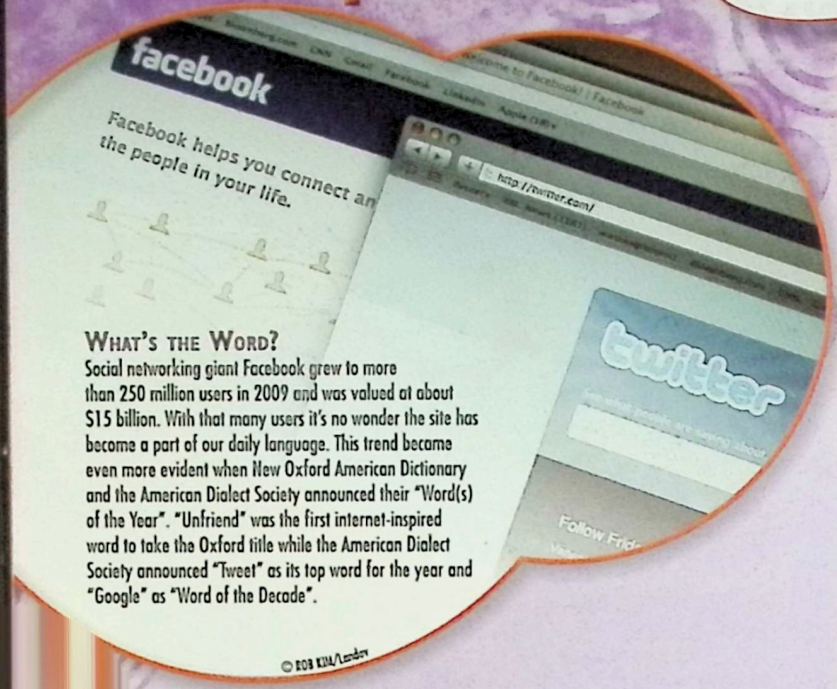


Tech Topics

Awarded Educational Toy of the Year at the 2009 Australian Toy Hobby and Nursery Fair.

Darth Vader Arm

The Darth Vader robotic arm, the latest and greatest in Star Wars related toys and collectibles, is easy to assemble with 45 pieces that snap together. Though just a toy, this robotic limb has the power to grip, turn, extend and hold objects.



What's the Word?

Social networking giant Facebook grew to more than 250 million users in 2009 and was valued at about $15 billion. With that many users it's no wonder the site has become a part of our daily language. This trend became even more evident when New Oxford American Dictionary and the American Dialect Society announced their "Word(s) of the Year". "Unfriend" was the first internet-inspired word to take the Oxford title while the American Dialect Society announced "Tweet" as its top word for the year and "Google" as "Word of the Decade".

The Bladeless Fan

It's been 127 years since the standard electric fan was introduced and people have been pretty satisfied. Now, the Dyson company, well known for its innovative vacuum cleaners, introduced the first bladeless fan. The Air Multiplier pulls air through its base, which is then pushed through a hidden vent into the circular head of the fan to create an uninterrupted breeze.

3-D TV

Riding a wave of popularity since the release of hit movies like Up and Monsters vs. Aliens, 3-D is coming to television. Manufacturers such as Sony, Panasonic, Mitsubishi, and JVC all reported working on 3-D televisions. In the future, viewers will have the option of watching programs in 3-D, utilizing special glasses to see the third dimension.

Disposable Timing Chips

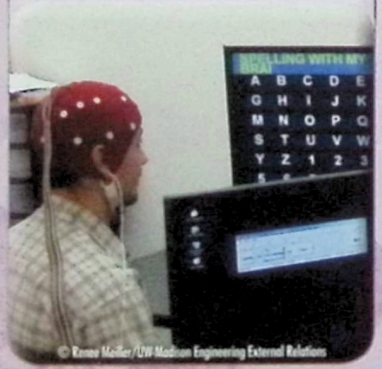
After years of clunky timing devices and expensive lost chip fees, runners will benefit from disposable timing technology. Using radio frequency identification (RFID), race organizers can put an integrated tag on race bib numbers to accurately record time during competition. The cost effective design also allows runners to simply throw away the chip after racing.

Seeing Eyeborg

Canadian filmmaker Rob Spence has lived with permanent damage to his right eye since the age of 11. In his efforts to regain vision, Rob partnered with a camera provider in an attempt to replace his eye with a wireless, battery-powered video camera for what is being called the "Eyeborg" Project.

Twitter on the Mind

Millions share their thoughts, opinions and updates every day (or hour) using Twitter. But University of Wisconsin doctoral student Adam Wilson's research revealed a new use—establishing a form of communication for those with extensive paralysis. Wearing an electrode-covered cap, Wilson focused his attention on flashing letters on a computer screen while his brain activity was monitored to figure out which letter he wanted. In the end he was able to tweet 23 characters with his mind.



Energy Saving Light

Philips Electronics introduced a new energy-efficient LED light bulb that uses just 10 watts (compared to 60 watts of the standard bulb) and generates the same amount of energy but lasts 25 times longer as its counterpart. The bulb may save as much electricity as is needed for 17.4 million households in a given year. Philips Electronics LED bulb was entered into the U.S. Department of Energy's L Prize competition and if it takes the prize, the company could be awarded $10 million in cash and federal contracts.

Beatles Rock Again

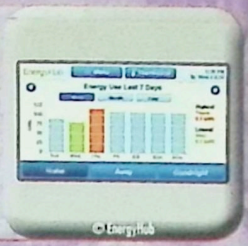
The Beatles rocked the music industry, re-releasing their famed anthology and launching their first ever video game. Decades after their last album was recorded, all 12 of The Beatles' studio albums were re-released in a new digitally re-mastered format. The Beatles: Rock Band, an experiential video game, features 45 of their hits and offers players an option to relive music history by playing through the tracks chronologically.

Cyborg Beetles

Ripped from the pages of science fiction comes the government-funded cyborg beetle. Development began on a project that has scientists implanting miniature electrodes into beetles to enable them to control the insects' every move via remote control. Though still in testing, the high-tech critters could one day be used as military spies.

Smart Thermostat

EnergyHub™ Dashboard was introduced addressing both the environmental and recession-minded concerns of today. The device wirelessly tracks your appliances and informs you of how much energy you are using. It also tells you how much your usage costs so you can make adjustments, conserve energy and pocket the savings.



Smart Phones get Smarter

The smartphone continued its rise in popularity as on-the-go technology evolved. From the popular Blackberry® series to the iPhone, smartphones offered everyone from business professionals and techies to senior citizens and even children hand-held access to the internet and continuous connectivity to the world. Additionally, 2009 was deemed "the year of the app" by many, with available applications surpassing 100,000 (and over 1 billion downloads) that can do just about anything imaginable—from efficient and practical to simple and fun.

Reality Gaming

Video games got a dose of reality by taking their inspiration from the news. Games like Hero on the Hudson, Swinefighter and Trillion Dollar Bailout allowed users to be a part of the headline-making stories. The two-dimensional games, mostly developed for internet or cell phones, were simple, allowing creators to release them quickly after the actual events took place.

Tetris Turns 25

With an undeniable place in video game history, the popular puzzle game Tetris turned 25. A series of new features for a new generation were announced, such as Tetris Acorn Drop, a concept taken from the movie Ice Age.

In its lifetime, Tetris has been purchased or downloaded more than 125 million times.

Walk this Way

Before iPods became the "it" way to listen to music on the go, there was the Sony Walkman. Once the leader in music technology, the audio cassette player and radio turned 30 this year. The grandfather of personal music devices allowed users to take their favorite tunes anywhere, ultimately paving the way for the Discman, the MP3 player and the iPod.

The New Face of Hollywood

Legendary filmmaker James Cameron reshaped the movie industry by helping develop the advanced camera technology used in his blockbuster hit Avatar. Cameron helped pioneer a lightweight, two-lens camera that can shoot dynamic live action footage in 3-D and a head-rig camera that accurately records facial expressions. The result is a stunningly realistic, digitally created movie that captures even the most obscure details on an actor's face. The computer generated characters, like those on Avatar's fictional planet of Pandora, appear more realistic than ever before.

Dirty Work

A DustCart robot, reminiscent of Disney's WALL-E, recently took to the streets of Italy. The robot, which will be tested in cities around the world, responds to residents who place their trash and recyclables on the curb and call for pick up. It fills up its belly with unwanted waste, much the same as the traditional dump truck. Though not as efficient as a fleet of trucks, the DustCart monitors air pollutants and is much quieter, running on lithium ion batteries.

E-Book It!

The Amazon Kindle wireless e-book reader has been growing in popularity since its introduction nearly three years ago. During the holiday season, the mobile reading device boasted record performance becoming the most gifted item in Amazon's history selling more e-books than physical books for the first time ever. Proving a growing trend, Barnes and Noble, Inc. introduced its own electronic reader, nook™ which took the number two spot on TIME Magazine's Top Gadgets of 2009.

Scoreboard

Mark Buehrle is the only active pitcher with two career no-hitters.

Pursuit of the Cup

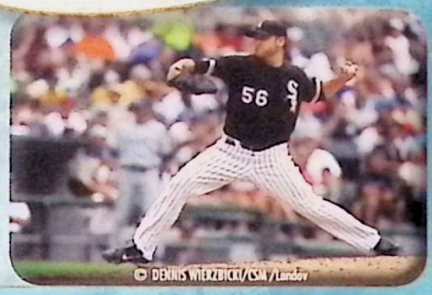
In a precursor to the World Cup next year, Brazil won the FIFA 2009 Confederations Cup held in South Africa. The Brazilians bounced back from a two-goal deficit late in the game to dramatically beat the U.S. It was the third tournament championship for Brazil and the 14th win of 15 games against the U.S.

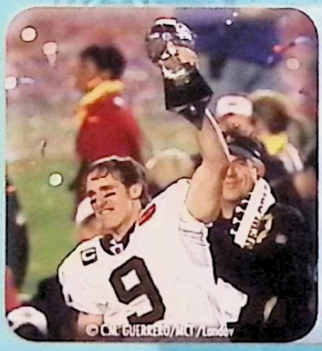
Vonn Her Way

U.S. downhill skiing champ, Lindsey Vonn made a stunning comeback after her 2006 Olympic dreams were halted after she crashed during a training session. She went on to win both the 2008 and 2009 World Cup overall titles. With the titles in hand, Vonn was well on her way to a gold medal at the 2010 Vancouver Olympic Games. Other U.S. Olympic front runners included Evan Lysacek in figure skating and Apolo Ohno in short track speed skating.

Buehrle Pitches Perfect

Chicago White Sox pitcher Mark Buehrle tossed a gem of a game on July 23rd to become only the 18th player in history to pitch a perfect game. The feat came two seasons after he threw a no-hitter, which makes him just the 26th player to throw multiple no-hitters in his career.





Saints Go Marching

For the first time in its 43-year franchise history and its first appearance at the big game, the New Orleans Saints won the Super Bowl beating out the Indianapolis Colts. With a stunning defensive performance and unstoppable offensive drive that dominated three quarters, the Saints claimed its 31-17 victory. Later, team quarterback Drew Brees was honored as Most Valuable Player having tied the record for most completions in a Super Bowl, finishing with 32 completions out of 39 passes for 288 yards.

Champion Mom

Kim Clijsters rejoined the world of tennis in grand fashion. After retiring from the sport in 2007 to start a family, Clijsters returned to win the US Open. By defeating Caroline Wozniacki in the finals, the Belgian tennis pro became the first unseeded woman ever to win the 2009 US Open; and the first mother to win a Grand Slam title since Evonne Goolagong Cawley at Wimbledon in 1980.

Little League World Series

In a suspenseful final game, California clinched the 5th straight Little League World Series title for the U.S. Fans, including Vice President Joe Biden, watched and cheered as the team fought their way back from a three-run deficit to defeat Taiwan 6-3. After the game, the team celebrated its win with class, inviting the Taiwan team to join them in their victory lap.

Victor-Ji!

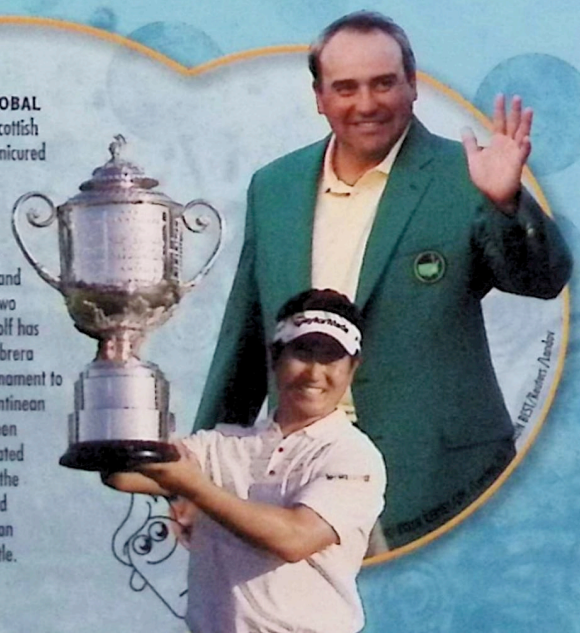
Eun-Hee Ji, from Korea, won the US Women's Open. Going into the final round, Ji trailed American Cristie Kerr by two shots. With a double-bogey on the 10th hole, Ji's chance at victory looked slim. Kerr, however, had a disappointing final round, allowing Ji to come from behind, sinking a final 20-foot putt for the win.

Welcome, WPS

This year marked the inaugural season for the Women's Professional Soccer (WPS) league. The league consisted of seven teams scattered across the U.S. with two more teams set to join the league in the future. With a score of 1-0, the Sky Blue FC team from New York and New Jersey defeated the Los Angeles Sol to claim the first ever WPS Championship.

Golf Goes Global

From its birth in the Scottish countryside to the manicured greens of Augusta National Golf Club in Georgia, golf traditionally has been played by Europeans and Americans. In 2009, two players proved that golf has gone global. Angel Cabrera won The Masters Tournament to become the first Argentinean to wear the prized green jacket. Y.E. Yang defeated Tiger Woods, winning the PGA Championship and becoming the first Asian man to win a major title.



This was the Laker's 15th championship title.

Lakers Out Trick Magic

The Los Angeles Lakers defeated the Orlando Magic in game five of the NBA finals. Four-time NBA champion Kobe Bryant was the standout star of the series, leading his team to victory and claiming the title of Most Valuable Player.

Mercury Rising

The Phoenix Mercury defeated the Indiana Fever to win the WNBA championship. Fueled by stars Diana Taurasi and Cappie Pondexter, the Mercury prevailed in game five to take the title. Taurasi was honored with the series MVP award.

Winter X Games

Snowboarding star Shaun White proved his resilience and talent at the annual Winter X Games in Aspen, Colorado. After taking a spill face-first on the halfpipe while practicing his newest and most dangerous stunt, White returned to take first in the Snowboard SuperPipe competition for the third straight year. White wasn't the only repeat winner—Ophelie David took home her fourth consecutive Women's Skier X title.

Fantastic Federer

Roger Federer cemented his place in tennis history by breaking the record for most major title wins. By winning the French Open, the Swiss tennis star tied Pete Sampras' historic record of 14 titles, while also completing his career Grand Slam. Federer went on to win Wimbledon for the sixth time, giving him his 15th major title. Sampras praised Federer by saying he was the greatest player ever.

Penguins Win Stanley Cup

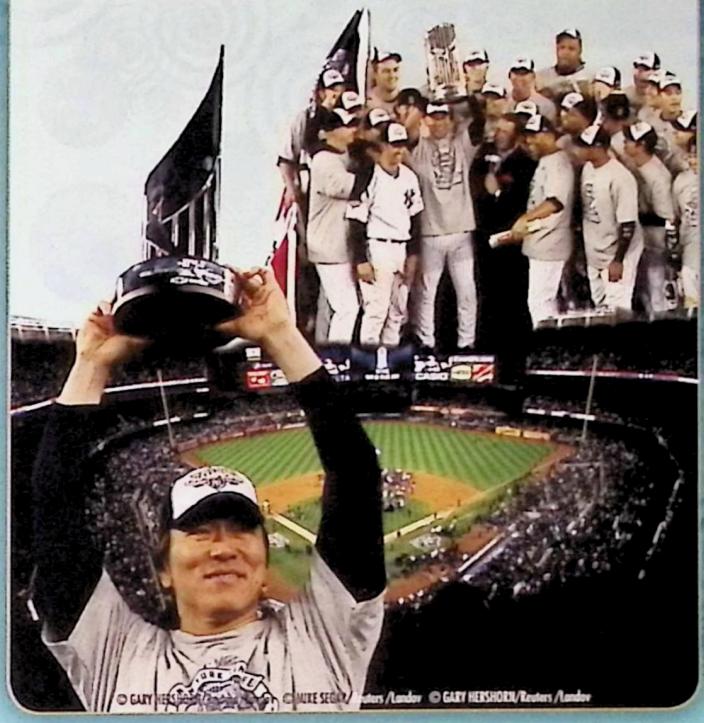
The Pittsburgh Penguins triumphed over defending champions, the Detroit Red Wings, in a nail-biting game seven of the Stanley Cup. Thanks to Penguin team member Max Talbot's two goals in the second period, the Penguins became the first team since 1971 to win game seven on the opposing team's home ice.

My Sports

What were your favorite sports highlights of the year?

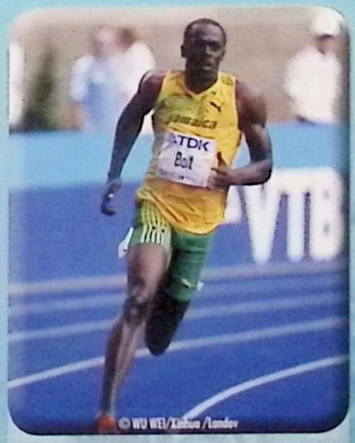
Yankees Win 27th Title

The New York Yankees defeated the defending champion Philadelphia Phillies in game six of the World Series. The win marks the 27th World Series title for the Yankees, the most titles in all of sports, and the first win in their $1.5 billion new stadium. Hideki Matsui was named series MVP with a record-setting six RBIs in game six, while Andy Pettitte became the pitcher with the most wins in the post-season, claiming his 18th victory.



NASCAR Champ

Jimmie Johnson became the first driver in NASCAR history to win four consecutive Sprint Cup series titles, breaking the tie he previously held with Carl Yarborough. By finishing fifth in the final race of the season, Johnson earned enough points to secure the title. With 6,652 points on the year, Johnson beat out his next closest opponent by 141 points.



Bolt Strikes Again

Deemed the "fastest man alive" during the 2008 Olympics, Jamaica's Usain Bolt continued to amaze at the World Championships. Not only did Bolt break his own world record in the 100-meter in a stunning 9.58 seconds, he went on to set a new record of 19.19 seconds for the 200-meter.

Horse Play

In front of a crowd of over 150,000 onlookers, Mine That Bird won the Kentucky Derby. The 50-1 long shot defied the odds to take the title, returning $103.20 on a $2 bet. Mine That Bird appeared on the cover of Sports Illustrated the following week.

Millionaire Moment

Slumdog Millionaire emerged as the big winner of the 81st Academy Awards, picking up eight Oscars, including Best Motion Picture, Best Director and Best Adapted Screenplay. Sean Penn upset sentimental favorite Mickey Rourke to take home the Oscar in the Lead Actor category, while Kate Winslet won for Lead Actress. The late Heath Ledger won for Best Supporting Actor and Penelope Cruz became the first Spanish actress to win Best Supporting Actress.

Michael Makes History

The American Music Awards were a night filled with emotion and history making. Adding four awards to his resume (accepted by brother Jermaine, pictured above), Michael Jackson became the most awarded artist in AMA history. Jackson won Favorite Male Artist in both the Pop-Rock and Soul-R&B genres, while his Number Ones album took home the top spot in both categories as well. Taylor Swift was also a big winner, taking home five awards in total, including the top honor, Artist of the Year.

Moonman Madness

The stars turned out for the Video Music Awards and the night was full of memorable moments. Janet Jackson paid tribute to her brother Michael with a moving performance to open the show. Later, in a controversial move, Kanye West stormed the stage, interrupting Taylor Swift's acceptance speech for Best Female Video. Despite the distractions, Moonmen were still awarded. Beyoncé took home the prize for Video of the Year, Lady Gaga was named Best New Artist, and Green Day won Best Rock Video.

Harry's Midnight Millions

After two years, fans eagerly awaited the sixth installment in the Harry Potter series, which proved even more magical than the rest. The midnight showings of Harry Potter and the Half-Blood Prince raked in $22.2 million at the box office, beating the previous record of $18.5 million held by The Dark Knight.

Skinny Scare

Despite being a popular fashion trend for years, skinny jeans could be causing nerve damage. Doctors reported seeing an increase of young women complaining of tingling or numbness in the upper legs, supposedly caused by the trendy pants. Diagnosed as a form of nerve damage, meralgia paresthetica is usually not permanent and the effects can be reversed by trading in the tight fitting jeans for a looser alternative.

Whatever!

In a survey conducted by the Marist Institute for Public Opinion, "whatever" was found to be the most annoying word in America. With 47% of the vote, the popular word of disinterest beat out other phrases like "you know," "it is what it is," and "at the end of the day." "Whatever" gained popularity in the 1990s after its use as valley-girl slang in movies like Clueless.

Boy Hit by Meteorite

A 14 year old from Germany lived to tell his story after being struck by a meteorite traveling 30,000 mph. Explained as a massive fireball, the meteorite struck the boy's hand before hitting the ground. Though not seriously injured, the impact sent the child flying and left a three-inch scar on the boy's hand and a foot-long crater in the ground.

SPIRIT OF COMMUNITY AWARDS

What happened?

Created in 1995, the Prudential Spirit of Community Awards was developed to recognize volunteerism and community service amongst middle school and high school students. This year, ten students were recognized nationally for their efforts. One student, Sean Nathan, a 14-year-old from Louisiana was recognized for throwing birthday parties for homeless children. Inspired after a visit to a shelter, Nathan persuaded local pizza parlors to donate food, as well as contributed his own money. Each month, Sean throws a birthday bash complete with games and presents celebrating the birthdays of the four to five children whose birthdays fall in that month. Since 1995, more than 260,000 students have participated in the award program and nearly 90,000 have been officially recognized for service.
